

Superyacht Loon now accepts Bitcoin for luxury charter bookings

February 28, 2022

The most popular charter yacht in the Bahamas is heading to Europe in 2022 for her first Mediterranean charter season. Well noted for embracing new ideas, Loon is the first superyacht to announce they will be accepting crypto currency such as Bitcoin for charter bookings, including during the Monaco Grand Prix this May with the trackside berth they have secured in Port Hercules.

Captain Paul Clarke of Motor Yacht Loon shared, "We believe Bitcoin is the future of global currency. Forward thinking and welcoming new ideas has always been a strong part of Loons ethos. Accepting Bitcoin fits perfectly with these principals and supports inclusivity, especially for the younger generation of charter guests who are often more comfortable with a decentralised currency such as Bitcoin. Crypto currency expands borders, Loon is expanding her horizons with the upcoming trip to Europe, and we look forward to inviting a new wave of charter guests on board." Particularly popular with American charterers Loon regularly usually welcomes high profile guests to explore the Bahamas and Caribbean. This year the 55m Newcastle 5500 series motor yacht will be chartering Europe from May until October before returning to the Bahamas. Although much of the summer season is already booked, Loon has just released dates for the Monaco Grand Prix, Cannes Film Festival and two other weeks mid-season.

With the official @motoryachtloon Instagram account holding more followers than any other superyacht globally, and Loon crowned the most instagrammed superyacht to date, the social media platform is the best place to keep up to date with everything Loon including the itineraries planned for this summer, charter availability, and insight into all the luxurious amenities onboard.

Refitted in 2020 this remarkable charter yacht features stabilisers both at anchor and underway. Her sophisticated exterior design and engineering are the work of Murray & Associates, with the lavish interior designed by Claudette Bonville.

With six deluxe staterooms and a dedicated spa ready to accommodate up to 12 guests, plus a Sky Lounge large enough to host parties for up to 100 people, she is a perfect choice for enjoying the Monaco Grand Prix or Cannes Film Festival. At 1100 gross tons she has enormous volume gifting guests with generous indoor and outdoor amenities and an elevator making all areas easily accessible.

Loon has an abundance of outside space designed for maximum comfort and appreciation of the extraordinary destinations and events she visits. An alfresco bar compliments the infinity pool with oversized Jacuzzi and numerous sun pads. A large round table is set for sumptuous alfresco dining after guests have enjoyed a sundown cocktail, and the Beach Club flows effortlessly onto the FunAir Inflatable Sea Pool and water sports hub when out at anchor.

As a certified PADI Dive Centre charter yacht Loon offers an extensive water sports program. The talented crew include a dive master, a professional surfer and a pro kite boarder and their unbeatable water sports program is available to guests of all ages and abilities.

Each exceptional superyacht charter is complimented by exquisite world cuisine and an onboard videographer who films and curates a custom video documenting the guest's experiences both onboard, and whilst out adventuring.

Loon and her crew are celebrated for undertaking extensive humanitarian work including being one of the first responders during Hurricane Dorian. This dedicated crew will soon be sailing for Europe and look forward to an exceptional summer season in the Mediterranean.
